

2013 Scottish National River Championship Final - Sunday 28th July - River Tummel

Paul Buchanan of Forth Area Federation of Anglers is the 2013 Scottish National River Champion following the final of the River Championship on Sunday 28th July. Paul won three of the four sessions to give him 9 place points which was 12 points clear of the field. Although conditions changed throughout the day Paul stuck with his sedge pupae and partridge spider on a floating line and his consistency won him the Championship. Not content with winning the event he also had the largest trout of the day which measured at 52cm.

He was drawn on the upper sector in the morning and took 5 fish in the first session and another 5 fish in the second session to win both of the morning rounds. He moved to the lower sector in the afternoon where 2 fish in session three earned him a sixth place in that round but it was back to the top in session 4 when another four fish won him the final round. He had a total of 16 fish throughout the day and his nine place points was twelve points clear of second placed man Jim Fairgrieve of Coldstream & District AA who had a total of 9 fish. Kenny Riddell of Aberdeen and District AA was third with 28 place points and 11 fish.

These three anglers will be joined Calum Crosbie of Newton Stewart & District (4th), Derick Logan of Coldstream & District AA (5th) and Simon Cocker of D & B Fly Fishing (6th) to represent Scotland at the 2014 Home International in England
